Caring for the Families of Fallen and Wounded Special Operations Forces Since 1980

Oct. 28, 2013

An amazing support-the-troops event is coming to Central Texas in just a few weeks, and I thought you should know about it.

Horsemanship expert Craig Cameron will be hosting the inaugural Guts & Glory 100 Mile Horse Ride Nov. 22-24 to benefit the Special Operations Warrior Foundation, which is one of the nation's top-rated non-profit organizations. The ride will begin in Goldthwaite and end in Bluff Dale.

For 33 years, the SOWF has helped ensure that the children of Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps special operations personnel who lose their lives in the line of duty receive a college education at no cost to the student. Additionally, the foundation provides overnight $3,000 grants to the families of seriously wounded special operations personnel, so they can get to their hospitalized loved ones right away.

Thanks to generous and caring people across the United States, the children of fallen special operations soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines will continue to receive the college educations their parents surely would have wanted for them; and our hospitalized warriors and their loved ones will be reunited as quickly as possible.

Craig decided he wanted to support the Special Operations Warrior Foundation after he learned more about it from his good friend and fellow horseman Tom Arthur, who serves on the SOWF's board of directors.

That was how Craig discovered that Charity Navigator, the nation's leading non-profit watchdog group, recently awarded us their four-star rating for the eighth consecutive year for the eighth consecutive year in recognition of our fiscal responsibility and transparency. This places the SOWF in the top 1% of the charities that Charity Navigator monitors. We've worked hard to earn this accolade, and we are very proud!

Should you have any questions about the SOWF or the connection between the Craig Cameron Guts & Glory 100 Mile Horse Ride and our organization, please do not hesitate to contact us by phone at 813.805.9400, or visit the ride website at <http://www.firstgiving.com/fundraiser/gutsandgloryride/gutsandgloryhorseride>. Even better, I hope I see you there next month.

On behalf of the SOWF staff, our U.S. Special Operations personnel and their families around the world, thank you for any support you can provide. It is deeply appreciated.

Sincerely,

Joseph Maguire
